Pin Oak Lane Farm Stallions Stand Tall in the State

A year ago, heading into the fall and looking forward to the next breeding season, the leading sires list in the Mid-Atlantic region was dominated by Pin Oak Lane stallions. The roster that Dr. Bill Solomon had selectively gathered took off over the summer, with Any Given Saturday topping the list, the late Rockport Harbor in second and Offlee Wild fourth. Add in Corinthian in the sixth spot, and the farm in New Freedom, Pa., had stood four of the top six.

When Solomon looks for a stallion for the region, that is the kind of horse he is going for. "There are two kind of horses that are useful," he points out. First is "A young horse, a graded winner by a popular stallion, like a Tapit or Unbridled's Song. Those horses are very expensive most of the time, they're much more expensive than you can make back in the Mid-Atlantic market on stud fees.

That's a difficult situation unless you can find somebody who wants to be a participant."

And then there is his preferred stallion: "Those who've had successful sire careers in Kentucky, like Any Given Saturday or Rockport Harbor." Those are the stallions who weren't quite successful enough in Kentucky to keep them from being overshadowed by other stallions and younger horses. But those horses, he adds, are in his opinion, the best. "They have proven stud records, they are far superior racehorses, they're attractive for people who breed to race."

Solomon has been doing this for a long time, as Pin Oak Lane celebrated its 40th anniversary in 2013. He has seen the ups and downs in the business, but his business in 2014 boomed with the addition of Any Given Saturday and Corinthian. And the dark horse Offlee Wild, who was standing his third season at Pin Oak Lane, was making a resurgence after a few dormant years.

And then came the hit in October: Any Given Saturday and Offlee Wild were sold to foreign interests, the former to Korea, the latter to the The Jockey Club of Turkey.

"The loss of Any Given Saturday and Offlee Wild is one of the difficulties in leasing horses you don't own on a yearly basis," acknowledged Solomon. "[When] they get hot like that, sometimes they're more viable in Turkey than they are here. So the owner takes advantage of that."

Any Given Saturday led all stallions in the region by number of mares bred in 2014, covering 100. He fit the Solomon mold to perfection: a Grade 1 winner at 3, he had the progeny earnings from just three crops to rank first in the region from the moment he arrived. He had great numbers, but not a big horse. In March 2014 the big horse arrived in the form of Hoppertunity, who finished second in the Santa Anita Derby-G1 after winning in graded company the month before. By the end of last year, Hoppertunity was a Grade 1 winner.

Offlee Wild struggled a bit after striking immediately when his first crop came to the races in 2009, yielding that year's Eclipse Award-winning 2-year-old filly She Be Wild.

He also arrived at Pin Oak Lane with three crops to race, but the support was faltering.

"When I brought him up here he was dead in the water," admitted Solomon. "But, there was a situation where he was freshman sire of the year, and the crop he bred the year after that would be his very best crop, and they were weanlings when I brought him up. As luck would have it, that crop had really good stakes horses."

From that crop came Bayern, who tore up the track during the summer of 2014, dazzling in the Grade 2 Woody Stephens Stakes on Belmont Stakes Day, dominating the William Hill Haskell Invitational Stakes-G1 in August, and doing the same in the Grade 2 Pennsylvania Derby in September. He would then add the Breeders' Cup Classic-G1 to his tally in November.

Solomon heard the rumblings in September that his star stallions were about to be sold. And unfortunately, the timing was bad to gear up for the next year.

"If you are going to bring stallions up you have to start in July, right after the breeding season ends, because there are other people who have the same idea, especially from other countries," he said. "So there is competition for these kind of horses. And there are not very many in the first place, if you were looking for the kind of horse I described, the Any Given Saturdays."

Making a stallion in a regional market is a challenge, he noted, partly because they don't get the huge book of mares a new stallion starting out can get in Kentucky. Even a stallion like Offlee Wild was a challenge. "He would have bred a big book here [this past] year, but I'm not sure he would have lasted because he bred small books in Kentucky in his last years there and he bred small books when he came here, because he wasn't red-hot."

Pin Oak Lane has brought in a number of popular stallions in recent years, including top sprinter Lite the Fuse and Rockport Harbor. The latter moved to Pennsylvania for the 2013 breeding season and immediately made an impact. The young son of Unbridled's Song covered 54 mares that year, a number that climbed during the season as his number of stakes winners grew. By that summer, Rockport Harbor was the leading sire in the region and looked set for an incredibly busy next season. Then tragedy struck. The big handsome gray contracted colitis, responded to treatment, but foundered and was euthanized in early August. Later that fall, his 2-year-old daughter Ria Antonia won the $2 million Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies Stakes-G1 and Rockport Harbor was the nation's leading juvenile sire.

"It was quite a blow to us," Solomon told PA Report the next year. "But you move on." Rockport Harbor currently ranks first on the Mid-Atlantic leading sires list, his leading earner his Grade 1-winning son Majestic Harbor.

Four stallions were on the Pin Oak Lane roster for 2015—Albert the Great, Corinthian, More Smoke and second-year stallion Norman Asbjornson, a multiple stakes winner of $536,600 by Real Quiet whose first foals arrived this year. Albert the Great saw increased interest after the exploits of his son Moonshine Mullin, winner of the 2014 Stephen Foster Handicap-G1. "Albert the Great bred three-times as many mares as he ordinarily would have," noted Solomon.

Corinthian would have covered in excess of 60 mares had he not been sidelined by bruised hind feet, which caused him to miss about half the breeding season and half his book. "He's good now, 100 percent and will be back in business at the start of the next breeding season," said Solomon.

"I'd like to have three or four horses that would breed 50 mares or more," he added. "I think Corinthian will breed that many this [coming] year and Albert the Great bred 55 mares last year. But I really do need to add something."

There are prospects in the works for the next season, said Pin Oak Farm's owner, who hopes to have something definitive to announce in four to six weeks. "I don't want to say though until I have them."

And any new stallion will be offered under a similar business plan that has worked very well in recent years, which includes workable stud fees of $6,000 or less, and reductions for multiple mare breedings. "Almost all of the breeders take advantage of the multiple mare discount," he pointed out. "Any Given Saturday bred 100 mares in 2014—I think we had one or two or three mares that were full price, and everybody else took advantage of breeding two or maybe three mares. They like that." He added: "We hold the line though, and make no exceptions. Once we publish those prices, nobody is able to do less. We price our horses extremely fairly and we give the advantage of having the multiple mare discounts."

Solomon will have ties to his former top stallions with future racing prospects. "I don't have a lot of mares, about 11," said Solomon, who races everything he breeds. "I do have a number of Any Given Saturdays, I have some Rockport Harbor yearlings."

But in the meantime, Pin Oak Lane is gearing up for the next breeding season, and the search continues for quality stallions to offer to breeders in the region. ❁

Pennsylvania's Day At the Races: A Day of Excitement and Celebration

An enthusiastic crowd turned out for the 15th annual Pennsylvania Day At the Races—the event which celebrates and showcases the state's breeding industry—on Saturday, Sept. 5 at Parx. The fun-packed card of 12 races saw nearly 120 horses entered, with five $100,000 stakes and total purses of $850,000. And the results were spectacular.

The main events were the split runnings of the Mrs. Penny Stakes and the Roanoke, Marshall Jenney and Dr. Teresa Garofalo Memorial Stakes. Two resulted in thrilling blanket finishes.

The eighth race on the card, the mile and a sixteenth Roanoke Stakes on the main track, featured 2-5 favorite Page McKenney, the bonafide stakes performer fresh off his win in the Robellino Stakes at Penn National two weeks earlier. The short field of five was loaded with talent, and it was the youngest in the field who got the upset.

The Elkstone Group's 3-year-old Duff, at 21-1, got the nod in the three-way photo over Page McKenney, who was a nose in front of Grasshoppin.

Last year's PA-Bred champion 2-year-old male, Duff has had a busy 3-year-old campaign since returning to the races in mid-May. The son of Candy Ride (Arg) prepped for the Roanoke with a four-length allowance win at Mountaineer Park 12 days earlier.

The ninth race was the first division of the Mrs. Penny Stakes for fillies and mares, 3 and up. The favorite for the mile and a sixteenth on the turf was New York-based Devilish Love. Slightly overlooked was again the only 3-year-old in the race, the fabulously consistent R Frosty One, who set the pace and had enough left to hold off Al's Gal and Devilish Love in another three-way photo. Final time was 1:43.91.

In her first season of competition, R Frosty One has five wins, two seconds and a third in eight starts. The Sajor Stable color-bearer won the Malvern Rose Stakes at

PENNSYLVANIA's DAY at the RACES

Presque Isle in her previous start. A daughter of Pennsylvania sire Southern Success, she was bred by the Gayle B. Gerth Trust.

The second division of the Mrs. Penny was taken by George Strawbridge's multiple graded stakes winner Kitten's Point, the 9-10 favorite in the field of eight. Carrying top weight of 126 pounds in her Parx debut, the 5-year-old Kitten's Joy mare settled on the inside early, angled out in the stretch and pulled clear late to win by a length and a quarter in 1:43.34.

It was the third win of the year for Kitten's Point, after taking Keeneland's Bewitch Stakes-G3 in April and Santa Anita's Astra Stakes in January. Earlier in her career she scored in the Herecomesthebride Stakes-G3 and her graded stakes-placings include the Grade 1 Ashland.

It was the third year in a row that Strawbridge's Augustin Stable colors were carried to victory in the Mrs. Penny as Kitten's Point joins Appealing Cat (2014) and Ski Holiday (2013).

Eight-year-old This Ain't No Bull had been running for a tag this year, and owner Matthew Schera and trainer Michael V. Pino made a judicious claim on July 12, spending $20,000 for the former stakes runner. That his next start would be the same race he won two years earlier, the Marshall Jenney Handicap, seemed a bit ambitious. He pulled it off in impressive fashion.

Leading at every call, the son of Holy Bull continued to pour it on, widening by as much as four lengths in the stretch before crossing the line two and a quarter lengths in front. The payday for his new connections was $60,000, a solid return on investment. This Ain't No Bull, bred by Classic Thoroughbred XVIII, has won 12 times in his 34-start career.

The Dr. Teresa Garofalo Memorial for 3-year-old fillies at seven furlongs on the main track saw another odds-on favorite get the victory.

Discreet Seniorita had to overcome a stumble out of the gate to record her fifth win of the year from eight starts. The daughter of Discreet Cat was nimble in her recovery, quickly moving up into contention and taking the lead heading into the stretch. It was easy down the lane as she won by nearly two lengths. The first-time stakes winner was bred by her owners, Dun Roamin Farm and Rosemore Farms.

Race Day Notes

- The shortest-priced winner on the card was Litlmissmartypants in the second. Sent off at 1-20, the daughter of Smarty Jones won the six-furlong race for $12,500 claimers by a neck over Poderosa.
- The biggest return was Duff in the Roanoke Stakes. He paid $44.80 for the win.
- The largest field turned out for the finale, a seven-furlong allowance on the main track. The Congressionalhonor 4-year-old filly Superling won by a length and a quarter as the third-choice in the 12-horse field.
- The only trainer to win more than one race was Patricia Farro, who sent out Gumpster-Stable LLC's Avalanche Rock in the sixth and Robert Tresente's Superling in the 12th. ❁

(late registration will be accepted by Dec. 31st for an additional fee)

Remembering champion Divine Fortune

He was simply divine.

Pennsylvania-bred Eclipse Award-winning steeplechaser Divine Fortune, Bill Pape and Jonathan E. Sheppard's homebred four-time PA-Bred champion gelding, was a fan favorite and a highlight of the steeplechase season since rising to the upper echelon of the sport in 2007 when the chestnut won his first graded stakes.

His first Grade 1 came in 2013 at age 10, the year he took home the Eclipse Award by winning the Grand National Hurdle Stakes-G1, finishing second in the Calvin Houghland Iroquois Hurdle-G1 and third in the A. P. Smithwick Memorial-G1.

Proving age wouldn't slow him down, he returned the next year in great form, taking the Calvin Houghland Iroquois Hurdle Stakes-G1 in his first start, then rebounding off of two rough trips to finish second in the Grand National Hurdle Stakes-G1 and conclude his season with a dominant, sensational victory in the Grade 1 Colonial Cup. It was the 10th time in his career he was on the board in a Grade 1 stakes.

On Aug. 27 at Saratoga in the New York Turf Writers Cup-G1, while leading the field as he did so spectacularly so many times before, Divine Fortune struck the final jump and fell heavily, suffering a fractured shoulder which proved fatal.

The son of Royal Anthem—My Tombo-la, by Northern Fling, won or placed in 24 of 47 starts to earn $829,795. But to those who love gallant racehorses, he meant so much more. And the sport is less bright without him. 🌸

A Few Words From the Executive Secretary

Our 15th annual PA Day at the Races was another huge success! Congratulations to all who participated in the 12 carded races which totaled $850,000 in purses, highlighted by five $100,000 stakes (the results are posted elsewhere in the PA Report).

I would like to thank the PTHA, who continues to contribute to the PA-Bred program by sponsoring our day; Sam Elliott for his hard work putting the races together; PARX for their hospitality and use of the banquet facility and AV work and setup; and our own Greg Newell, PA Day committee chair, and his team for bringing it all together for a wonderful experience.

Over the past couple of years the quality and competitiveness of PA-Breds has greatly improved. The money available for good PA runners has urged many breeders to upgrade their broodmare and stallion choice as noted in this year's event. With the consistency of the Race Horse Development Fund there isn't a better time to Breed and Race in Pennsylvania. Give me a call for details of the program.

Stakes Schedule for PA-Breds Offers $1.825 Million in 2015

Robellino Stakes

Page McKenney got his first win since March when taking the Robellino on Aug. 22 at Penn National. The odds-on favorite stalked the early pace, grabbed the lead with a quarter-mile remaining and held off all challengers.

It was the seventh race of his 5-year-old campaign, and his seventh on-the-board finish. Sandwiched between his win in the Harrison E. Johnson Memorial at Laurel in March and the Robellino were graded placings in the Charles Town Classic Stakes-G2, Pimlico Special-G3 and Prairie Meadows Cornhusker Handicap-G3. He returned in the Roanoke Stakes on the PA-Bred Day At the Races card and just missed when second to push his 2015 earnings to $473,100 and lifetime earnings to $860,178.

Bred by Dr. James E. Bryant and Linda P. Davis and campaigned by Adam Staple and Jalin Stable, the son of former Pennsylvania stallion Eavesdropper has raced exclusively in stakes competition since winning the 2014 edition of the Robellino Stakes in his stakes debut. During the streak of 14 stakes races he has not been worse than third.

Mark McDermott Stakes

The Elkstone Group LLC's homebred 2-year-old gelding Balk got his second win in a row, and his first in a stakes race, by taking the Mark McDermott on Sept. 6 at Presque Isle Downs. The son of Street Boss and first foal out of the Dixie Union mare Countingoncarolynn rallied late in his first start at 6 furlongs and won by one and three-quarters lengths.

From four outings, the bay has two wins and a second, for earnings of $67,950.

ALL BREEDING FUND STAKES WILL INCLUDE A 25% PA-SIRED BONUS FOR 1ST, 2ND AND 3RD.

Proposed 2015 schedule—dates and conditions for all the PA-Bred Stakes are subject to change. Please contact the Racing Offices for the most current schedules.

Blasts From The Past

DEVIL'S HONOR

1993, Devil's Bag—Dancing Heroine, by Hero's Honor. Bred by Mrs. Henry D. Paxson; owned by Noreen Carpenito; trained by Walter C. Reese and James T. Ryerson.

The first PA-Bred to win the Pennsylvania Derby (then Grade 3), Devil's Honor achieved that feat in 1996, during a superb campaign in which he ranked among the Triple Crown hopefuls.

One of the many good PA-Breds to represent his Eclipse Award-winning breeder Mrs. Henry D. Paxson, Devil's Honor went through the ring at the 1995 Fasig-Tipton Midlantic 2-year-olds in training sale, selling for $35,000. Trained by Cynthia Reese for Noreen Carpenito, he would go on to be named Pennsylvania champion 2-year-old colt after winning three stakes, including the Pennsylvania Futurity by 4½ lengths, and placing in the Grade 1 Champagne Stakes, Grade 2 Saratoga Special and Grade 3 Kentucky Cup Juvenile.

He earned another state-bred championship at 3 by winning four stakes, topped by the Pennsylvania Derby in which he earned a career-high 114 Beyer speed figure. He also was third that year in the Grade 1 Super Derby.

Devil's Honor won or placed in 20 of 32 career starts on the flat and earned $793,191. Retired from racing, the big bay son of Devil's Bag didn't make the transition for a second career as a show jumper, and was soon in the barn of steeplechase trainer Jack Fisher.

He won once over jumps, and finished in the top four in eight of his 12 starts, before retiring from racing for good in November 2002 with earnings of $810,165.

Among his honors was being inducted into the Parx Racing Hall of Fame in 2012.

Jazz Napravnik, sister of jockey Rosie Napravnik, fell in love with Devil's Honor after first meeting him at the Fisher barn. She eventually became his owner and used him as a pony at her farm in Maryland. He lived out his life with Napravnik until he was put down at the age of 21 in December 2014.

Blasts From the Past takes a look back at PA-Breds of distinction throughout history. The majority of the biographies were included in the PHBA's 50th year anniversary commemorative booklet, published in 1998.
